Description	FluentU is a new way to learn a language through authentic video content like music videos, movie trailers, news, and inspiring talks. With engaging and immersive content, we empower users to learn with fun videos exhibiting the diversity and vibrancy of modern cultures. FluentU was founded by Alan Park, a Harvard Law grad and ex-management consultant who had a passion for language learning but wasn't satisfied with the existing solutions the market had to offer. He's recruited a team of language-learning geeks from around the world to help build and bring to market his vision for a comprehensive, engaging, video-based language-learning website.
