Description	QIOZ is a free language-learning platform developed by the Île-de-France region for the people of the region. Its innovative, fun approach to learning is based on extracts from films, TV series, music videos and documentaries. In concrete terms, users can log on from their computer, tablet or smartphone, and choose to learn one or more of the following languages: English, German, Spanish and French. No minimum level is required. Depending on the user's objectives and needs, specific modules are offered, and a virtual coach accompanies the acquisition of knowledge. Regular level tests enable progress to be monitored, and language skills can be validated according to the standards of the Common European

	Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).
