Description	Older Slovenian U3A's students are collecting memories about the Ljubljana's old town, diary shops and bakeries, the way of living in the old town after the 2nd World War. They gathered testimonials about the many craftsmen and their role in the life of the local inhabitants and presented them to the audience of the national radio. "How is it possible to bring back childhood memories in a different way? Students of the Third Age University created special research and learning programme linking bread baking, bread painting (Paint Brush and Bread) and memories about the consumption of milk and bread together with memories about the Ljubljana's old town Ljubljana, the space and architecture of this part of the city. The buildings and the urban

	space were brought to life in their narratives and writings".
